Page 5, Q37. Which possibilities of linking HECA to the new energy bill, that introduces Green Deal and ECO, would you think would work best (tick all that apply)?

1	Not sure how HECA fits with GD/ECO	Sep 27, 2011 3:57 AM
2	Bring in Statutory targets, otherwise no incentive for green deal	Sep 20, 2011 4:21 AM
3	HECA must be used to make the Green Deal fit for purpose	Sep 5, 2011 10:57 AM
4	General overseeing role, compulsory for all Green Deal Providers to provide the LA with a standard set of info on the Green Deal measures, customer protection, conflict broker?	Sep 5, 2011 3:42 AM

Page 5, Q38. Please rate the level of importance, from 0 (Not Important at all) to 4 (Very important) of the following features for a revised version of the Home Energy Conservation Act?

1	we already have challenging targes - we have multiple officers covering this work already, We provide advice to residents already, FP is intigrated into all our work, Statatory is good, feed back from government not bothered, flexible reporting is not an issue, standard reporting is useful to a point data standardisation is good if detailed enough, we collect data already, as an LA we perform already so don't care about sticks only carrots, league tables can be distorting and favor LA's that have previously done nothing - it depends on baslines etc., Funding is always good	Sep 27, 2011 3:57 AM
2	multi authority collaborative approach, possibly inc. LEP area target	Sep 26, 2011 8:54 AM
3	Consultation and dissemination events with local authorities	Sep 21, 2011 6:39 AM
4	Statutory requirements to improve stock, none of above can be carried out without funding.	Sep 20, 2011 4:21 AM
5	emphasis needs to be made to standardise data collection, preferrably in partnership with the utility companies, funding is slim in most LAs for HECA activity, the temptation to get rid of HECA officers and leave the ESTac to do the work is there but this would loose all local knowledge, in GM it is proven that the LA's that are activley involved in promoting HECA do better than those that dont.	Sep 19, 2011 1:20 AM
6	HECA must be manditory for local authorities	Sep 5, 2011 10:57 AM
7	Standard procedure for reports for all LAs, the flexible approach will lead to confuaion and inaction	Sep 5, 2011 3:42 AM

Page 5, Q39. Do you have any other comments about how the Home Energy Conservation Act developed should be developed and how it should fit in with the Green Deal?

1	No, since I have no experience of HECA and Green Deal isn't finalised	Oct 7, 2011 7:20 AM
2	The main benefit of the Act should be to raise awareness amongst senior management and Members around fuel poverty and the scale of work required to address this problem. It is difficult to see how it can fit in with the Green Deal when the details of the GD initiative are still rather vague.	Sep 30, 2011 8:47 AM
3	N/A	Sep 30, 2011 8:40 AM
4	Given what we know from GD studies it is unlikely to provide huge carbon savings anytime soon	Sep 27, 2011 3:57 AM
5	LAs should have a standard information portfolio for reassuring residents of details, which is locally branded	Sep 26, 2011 8:54 AM
6	HECA should be the monitoring and reporting tool of energy/emissions improvements. The Green Deal should only provide the means to an end to fulfill HECA targets. Therefore, The Green Deal should fit in with HECA especially where affordable measures have been exhausted and the more expensive measures are required to move forward.	Sep 26, 2011 1:06 AM
7	would need to be totally revised	Sep 22, 2011 6:56 AM
8	HECA Targets should incentivise Hard To Treat and Priority Group households which will not meet the golden rule	Sep 21, 2011 7:46 AM
9	Make it easy and not time consuming. Officers have better things to occupy their time	Sep 21, 2011 7:16 AM
10	to ensure that LA's are not excluded from the whole Green Deal process	Sep 21, 2011 6:39 AM
11	No, Green Deal does not apply in NI.	Sep 21, 2011 5:30 AM
12	Use data obtained from HECA to inform measures needed fro green deal	Sep 21, 2011 3:13 AM
13	Not really, not particularly sure it will be successful	Sep 20, 2011 4:21 AM
14	HECA needs to place LAs at the centre of Green Deal, without which effective delivery is not possible	Sep 19, 2011 8:06 AM
15	Bury, like other Councils, have no money to carry out expensive surveys & data analysis, so a lot of thought needs to be put into developing a robust yet economical method of reporting.	Sep 19, 2011 4:01 AM
16	Estate agents really need to be on board with the GD, as the prospect of selling a house with a "charge" attached to the property could be seen as a negative.	Sep 19, 2011 1:20 AM
17	Should be standard methodology for measuring progress, previously HECA compared apples and pears!	Sep 15, 2011 1:16 AM
18	Not be an unnecessary data collection burden - collect what is already out there eg HEED, EPC data etc	Sep 15, 2011 12:34 AM
19	Reporting on activities & promoting green deal are vital but linkage should not be restricted to the Green Deal - as with NIs this too could change or be discontinued.	Sep 14, 2011 5:37 AM

Page 5, Q39. Do you have any other comments about how the Home Energy Conservation Act developed should be developed and how it should fit in with the Green Deal?

20	None other than the two must be clearly and strongly linked.	Sep 14, 2011 5:06 AM
21	Obligation to work with LAs	Sep 6, 2011 1:40 AM
22	HECA must provide the mandatory obligation for local authorities to be involved in Green Deal and ECO and must require LA's to report on annual progress via Chief Executive submissions	Sep 5, 2011 10:57 AM
23	Make it compulsory for any Green Deal Provider to inform the LA of the area the ywork in of all the #Green Deal projects they are carrying out with certain standard details, separate categories for Green Deals in commercial buildings.	Sep 5, 2011 3:42 AM
24	Not really no	Sep 5, 2011 2:58 AM

Page 5, Q40. Which of the following categories that have been identified in relation to the Green Deal is your organisation most likely to fall into?

1	possibly a mixture of 1 &2	Sep 27, 2011 3:57 AM
2	Mix of 'Partner' and 'Recipient'	Sep 21, 2011 8:14 AM
3	currently considering provider and partner role in partnership with district councils	Sep 21, 2011 7:08 AM
4	If it applied here, probably Green Deal Partner.	Sep 21, 2011 5:30 AM
5	A combination of the above - internal discussions still ongoing	Sep 14, 2011 9:35 AM

Page 5, Q41. Do you have any comments you would like to make about the Green Deal?

1	I don't think it is appropriate for vulnerable households unwilling to take on debt, nor am I sure it would meet the golden rule to deal with the many hard to treat homes in our borough.	Sep 30, 2011 8:47 AM
2	As a person of average intelligence who works in the field, it is a shame that I still don't understand Green Deal. It gives little hope that the average resident who doesn't work in the area and who may be below average intelligence, will understand green deal	Sep 27, 2011 9:06 AM
3	waiting until the consultation comes out as there are a lot of questions out there but not a lot of answers	Sep 27, 2011 3:57 AM
4	If developed appropriately should provide the alternative approach that will lead to private household investment without public funds	Sep 26, 2011 8:54 AM
5	The green deal needs to be made as simple to understand for consumers and providers alike as CERT and EEC were. It needs to cover all types of energy efficiency measures in particular those hard to treat measures such as external and internal wall insulation, as well as new technologies and renewables. So far it is complicated and nobody I have spoken too has any idea how it will work for them.	Sep 26, 2011 4:13 AM
6	not convinced that it will work as there is no incentive to have a loan. If householders have not taken up the offer of free insulation or discounted at prices as low as £49 why would they have a loan for £400 attached to their property	Sep 23, 2011 4:44 AM
7	NEA has concerns about how applicable the Green Deal will be for fuel poor households and is likley therefore to focus on the ECO as a means of helping vulnerable householders who are unable to pay for, but still very much require, the available measures.	Sep 22, 2011 4:45 AM
8	Big risk for LAs financially and reputationally : Burden of debt & enforcement placed upon the authority - what's our role going to be and what are we going to get paid for enabling / intelligence / lending our trusted brand ?	Sep 21, 2011 7:46 AM
9	Very concerned about it. Will need alot of marketing to encourage take up and consumers likely to be confused by a variety of organisations all offering green deal.	Sep 21, 2011 7:08 AM
10	its not fit for purpose	Sep 21, 2011 6:39 AM
11	Not sure how it works with council owned properties. Any funding to replace CERT/CESP?	Sep 21, 2011 5:48 AM
12	Not convinced yet that it would have widespread take-up. May appeal to only a small section of the population.	Sep 21, 2011 5:30 AM
13	L/a are ideally places to provide impartial, trusted advice for their residents as well as being aware waht measures can be done and where measures have already been done. HECa offices are ideally placed to become Green Deal advisors.	Sep 21, 2011 3:13 AM
14	Not sure the proposed scheme will be taken up by sufficient numbers to be viable in the current financial climate. Need statutory requirements to improve housing stock then Green deal may prove a useful tool.	Sep 20, 2011 4:21 AM
15	I think its success is questionable. If people would not access grants when	Sep 20, 2011 12:40 AM available, why would they volunteer to pay in future. It is also a way of shifting the burden of investment from the utilities on to the public.

16	its needs to alleviate fears that it will not assist the vulnerable sectors	Sep 19, 2011 8:06 AM
17	The LAs in Greater Manchester have a very good partnership with the GM ESTAc & will be looking to work together to investigate how best to gear up for the Green Deal.	Sep 19, 2011 4:01 AM
18	I hope the Govt gets on with it and brings it in on time. It needs to work properly and to last a long time to encourage people.	Sep 15, 2011 7:32 AM
19	It has the seriously failing of relying on market fuel prices to stimulate demand in reducing energy. We need that decoupled, and to reduce CO2 emissions as quickly as possible - even while fuel is relatively cheap. We need people in the UK to be much better informed. A marketing campaign is required to encourage green deal takeup, and there needs to be an effective safety-net for those who can't afford the measures and for tenants.	Sep 15, 2011 4:09 AM
20	Based on what has been published I sincerely doubt it will achieve its aim	Sep 15, 2011 1:16 AM
21	We are concerned that take-up will be low and that it will not meet the needs of the fuel poor.	Sep 14, 2011 10:00 AM
22	Concerns ref quality of advcie and long term loan when residents move. Concerns if a Council tenant want to take up on Green Deal what policies and procedures in place.	Sep 14, 2011 8:38 AM
23	Very sceptical about how this will be "sold" to the public. It is already very difficult to promote heavily subsidised insulation to households who just aren't interested in saving energy or money.	Sep 14, 2011 6:19 AM
24	The green deal provides excellent potential to make a difference - however I would like to see more confirmed detail released to neable me to obtain a better understanding of how our residents could benefit from the GReen Deal and how we as a company manage this	Sep 14, 2011 5:48 AM
25	The rates of interest are going to be crucial to its success - without some compulsion on homeownerses to make improvements the Green Deal is unlikely to be successful.	Sep 14, 2011 5:37 AM
26	We are still looking at opportunites to help to make it work. We feel that we will hae a pivotal role to play.	Sep 14, 2011 5:06 AM
27	Although detail not yet clear, It seems like a costly and complicated way of providing finance.	Sep 14, 2011 3:22 AM
28	Must be workable in the real world, no repeat of the problems / inherent faults in the design of the CEST scheme - we need details of how the Green Deal will operate in good time before it comes into force	Sep 14, 2011 2:17 AM
29	The lack of details makes it difficult to know whether we can act. CESP looked promising but we couldn't make it work due to the level of funding required, Green Deal sounds workable until we see the detail.	Sep 6, 2011 1:04 AM
30	Local authorities must be mandated to deliver Green Deal and ECO especially with the demise of the EST	Sep 5, 2011 10:57 AM

Page 5, Q41. Do you have any comments you would like to make about the Green Deal?

31	The concern is that GD Providers will cherry pick the easy to install measures and ignore the more difficult work such as EWI. It needs to made a part of the GD that EWI and IWI are integral and key components.	Sep 5, 2011 5:54 AM
32	Great if it works! Worried that everything will go through the big multi-national companies, Small local companies, particularly social enterprises, should be able to participate in some way and it should be LAs that champion their cause.	Sep 5, 2011 3:42 AM
33	Nope	Sep 5, 2011 2:58 AM

1	Not really other than if agreements do not cause proactive mitigation and adaptation actions they end up just being a peice of green wash	Sep 27, 2011 3:57 AM
2	Q3 - c) needs to be a common branding, accompanied by the name of each LA and allow for local straplines eg Green Camden Q4 - agree a) Q7 - agree b) Q8 - agree only a) and b) Q11 - comments - LA reporting should be on a purely voluntary basis Q12 - agree a) LAs shouldn't be required to provide an annual report. 4	Feel councils should have to sign up and be required to set targets.	Sep 21, 2011 7:08 AM
5	The Nottingham declaration needs to carry a bit more weight than the original and incorporate some kind of Auditing / feedback system to encourage LA's to take action. It must also contain adaptation within it	Sep 21, 2011 6:39 AM
6	No.	Sep 21, 2011 5:30 AM
7	The majority of LA's have moved on from when the Declaration was implemented. A one size fits all Declaration would not work now. But knowledge and toolkits & training functions should be kept.	Sep 14, 2011 7:30 AM
8	The Nottingham Declaration should include over-arching, high level,targets for councils into which locally set targets can feed ,	Sep 14, 2011 5:37 AM
9	We are still considering our response so can't comment.	Sep 14, 2011 5:06 AM

2	Am vice chair of West Mids Sustainable Development officer network and would like to explore linkages between CAN and our network	Sep 21, 2011 7:08 AM
3	My post, Energy officer (private sector) is being deleted & I am to be made redundant on 31 Oct. Due to this, the energy efficiency advisory service that was delivered by Bury Council has been discontinued & moved to the GM EStac. An Affordable Warmth Officer will remain in post & will deal with fuel poverty issues & the AW strategy, however, this role is under review & looks likely to diversify	Sep 19, 2011 4:01 AM
4	Although I have ticked 'yes' to being in favour of the Government keeping HECA, this is only because there is no other mechanism available. However, in reality, HECA is not 'fit for purpose' and should be redrawn from scratch. Reporting should also be standardized.	Sep 19, 2011 3:29 AM
5	I think that you are a great organisation and provide really useful and timely information.	Sep 15, 2011 4:09 AM
6	HECA has, again, a key role to play to help local authorities to deliver on this important agenda.	Sep 14, 2011 5:06 AM
7	All aspects of the Green Deal and any revised HECA scheme must be deliverable and properly conceived	Sep 14, 2011 2:17 AM
